

The search for income knows no borders

Dynamic Global Fixed Income Fund

Introducing Dynamic Global Fixed Income Fund

In today's yield environment, the search for reliable income is now a global proposition. To meet this need, Dynamic Global Fixed Income Fund's unique, low-duration, actively managed strategy delivers income from a wide range of global credit opportunities. The Fund is managed by Payden & Rygel, one of the largest independent asset managers in the U.S. with a long history of investing in global fixed-income markets.

Key benefits

Legitimately active approach to global fixed income

A flexible, active approach provides greater opportunity to invest in more attractively priced segments of the market, mitigate risk, and generate alpha.

The "Goldilocks" alternative

When it comes to global fixed-income investing, size matters - both for the investment manager and the fund itself. Payden & Rygel is large enough to gain access to new global issues and yet nimble enough to take advantage of opportunities as market conditions change.

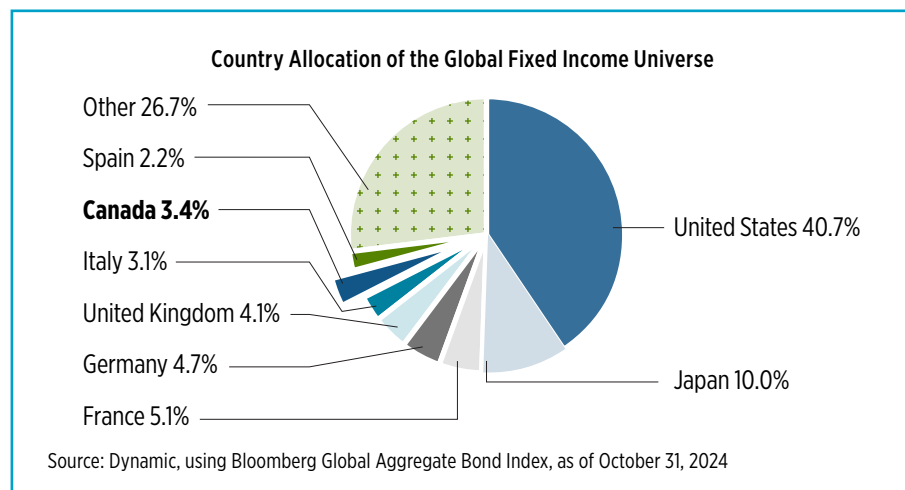

Depth of experience where it matters

Payden & Rygel's specialized credit knowledge and experience go beyond corporate and sovereign bonds. They can also invest in a wide range of research intensive opportunities in global securitized markets - including collateralized loan obligations (CLO), mortgage-backed securities (MBS) and other non-traditional debt instruments.

The need for global fixed income

1. Canada represents less than 4% of the global bond market. By investing solely in Canada, you are missing 96% of the global fixed-income opportunities available to investors.
2. An active, low-duration, credit-focused global fixed-income strategy delivers a lower correlation to both the broad Canadian fixed-income market and the global developed bond market.
